NOMAD Farms Summer Camp 2019

Careful work. Content animals. Clean food.

#nofilterfood #nofilterfarmcamp

Come prepared to work hard, play hard, take care of and enjoy the land and livestock! Learn how NOMAD Farms and nature work together to produce clean food. Become friends with the animals (feed/ water and assist in pasture rotation). Tend to the farm garden. Practice sustainability. Plant seeds, make compost, care for plants and trees, protect from predators. Appreciate farm-inspired art and storytelling. Explore wilderness. Play good, old-fashioned games. Learn daily character building themes. Keep a field journal and bring your intellect to the challenge. Explore the wonder of God's creation and understand your role in the stewardship of it.

In June of this year Dana Nicholson (Engineer of NOMAD Farms camp curriculum) will finish her studies at Wake Forest University Graduate School and bring her brand new Masters of Education to farm camp in July and August. Cheers to a growth mindset for all farmers, young and old!
